Western enjoys a storied athletics history. The Mountaineers have won 107 individual national NAIA or NCAA Division II championships and 15 national team championships. Western also has a proud tradition of sending athletes and coaches to the Olympic Games. During the past century, 22 Mountaineers competed in the Olympics, and three Western graduates coached U.S. Olympic teams.

The university’s student athletes have earned 946 All-America honors, and 24 Mountaineers have earned All-America Academic honors.

We seek to build champion leaders for tomorrow and provide a successful collegiate experience that results in a college degree. We value academics, leadership, personal growth, competitive excellence, community involvement, challenges, risk takers, sportsmanship, gender equity and diversity.

Western competes in NCAA Division II’s Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference.
Facilities

Mountaineer Field House
home to Indoor Track & Field, opened in March 2014. The 65,000-square-foot Field House features a six-lane, 200-meter track, fitness center, new athletic weight room and more. At 7,717 feet above sea level, it’s the highest collegiate indoor track in America.

Mountaineer Bowl
ranks as the highest collegiate football field and outdoor track in the world at 7,750 feet. It seats 4,000 fans and can accommodate several thousand more on its hillsides.

Paul Wright Gym
home to Men’s and Women’s Basketball, Volleyball and Wrestling, seats 1,800 spectators. At 7,723 feet above sea level, the facility is the highest collegiate gym in the world.

Western Aquatic Center is home to Women’s Swimming & Diving. A new hot tub and pool locker room renovation were part of the Mountaineer Field House construction project.

Gateway Field
home to Women’s Soccer, was built in 2012 on the south side of campus, right off U.S. 50.
